Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 13 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and windy. Cloud thickening from the west.

Today:
Cold, frosty start.with brisk winds but also plenty of sunshine. Cloud will gradually thicken from the west, leading to sunshine turning hazy. Likely staying dry, but the odd light snow shower cannot be completely ruled out for western parts later. Maximum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy and windy, with any evening showers fading. Temperatures not as low as recently, but still cold and frosty, with icy patches possible. Chance of rain or sleet by dawn. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Sunday:
Cold, windy and cloudy, with any early sleet turning to rain. Icy conditions possible, especially at first, but also briefly as heavier rain spreads east later. Milder temperatures then follow. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Noticeably milder with a widespread thaw. Mostly dry but cloudy Monday with lighter winds. Winds strengthening again through Tuesday and Wednesday, with some sunshine, but also rain at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.